EASTERN DATES TO MAY 16

EASTERN STATES

N Y Republican State Convention

ELMIRA, May 15.—The State Republican Convention met here to-day and organized. The election of officers resulted in Henry R Pierson being chosen permanent President. Edwards Pierrepont, chairman of the committee on resolutions, reported a platform embodying the principles of protection of American citizens regardless of color under the constitutional Amendments, payment of the public debt in coin and moderate taxation for that purpose, civil service reform, repeal of the income tax, franking privileges and all revenue taxes except those on tobacco and liquors, restoration and harmony of the South and preservation of an honorable peace with all foreign nations. Resolutions were also presented protesting against the surrender of the Republican party, declaring that the cry of universal amnesty was a deception, that southern politicians had not changed in principle but only in the policy of inviting wanderers from the Republican party to return. The last resolution declares it to be exceedingly unwise to change our able, tried and safe Chief Magistrate for one untried and uncertain. The resolutions were adopted unanimously.

N Y Democratic State Convention

ROCHESTER, May 15.—The Democratic State Convention reassembled at 3 P M and organized by the election of Thomas Kinsella for President. The committee on contested seats from New York city reported in favor of the delegates headed by John Fox.

A resolution in favor of the appointment of a committee to select delegates to Baltimore, created a long discussion and a substitute was introduced providing for the appointment of delegates by Congressional District delegations which was defeated, and the original adopted.

Clarkson N Potter, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, reported a resolution of which the following is the substance:

Resolved, That we recognize the change in the nature and Constitution of the Government which has taken place, and without reopening the questions of the past are ready now to co-operate with those of whatever previous party affiliations who favor a limited localized government, who seek to restrain the exercise by Congress of absolute and general powers to prevent it from entering on private legislation to restrain the growth of vast corporations, and work a permanent civil service reform; that the recent declaration of political principles by the Convention at Cincinnati is an evidence of the progress of public opinion toward sound wholesome views, and we believe all patriotic partisans may unite on that platform for the purpose of restoring an honest administration in national affairs as the course best calculated to insure the triumph of these principles and selection of any candidates representing them who meet the approval of Democratic National Convention assembled.

A committee was appointed to select delegates to Baltimore and the Convention adjourned till ten o'clock to-morrow.

Tennessee Republican Convention

NASHVILLE, May 15.—The Republican State Convention met to-day and organized. J F Ryan was chosen President. Three hundred delegates were present. The Convention was harmonious, enthusiastic and unanimous for Grant. No candidate for Governor was nominated, it being deemed the best policy to make no contest. Resolutions were passed declaring for the union of the States, civil rights, maintenance of the credit of the Republic, payment of the national debt, a peaceful and honorable foreign policy, free schools and free homes. They recognize General Grant as the best living representative of these principles and instruct the delegates to vote for his renomination.

A resolution was also adopted complimentary to the course of Maynard and presenting his name as candidate for Vice President.

New York City News

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Chamber of Commerce to-day with but one dissenting vote adopted a resolution approving the supplementary article of the Treaty of Washington.

WASHINGTON CITY

Congressional

WASHINGTON, May 15.—In the Senate the Foreign Committee to-day again discussed the proposed new article of the Treaty of Washington and without coming to a conclusion adjourned till to-morrow.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

The London Press on the Treaty

LONDON, May 15.—The spirit of the London press to-day on the treaty question is as follows: The Daily News says that all eyes in England are turned on the American Senate. We have done our duty. Our best hope remaining is that the decision has been confided to a body always holding the highest place for gravity and wisdom. The morning [illegible] and Telegraph are sanguine that patriotism will overrule politics, and the treaty survive.

The Standard remarks that we have made sacrifices enough. Let the Senate repeal the treaty. It is not our fault if the American Constitution is defective, or the courts weak, nor our loss if we are relieved from liability incurred out of an exaggerated deference toward a kindred, high spirited but exacting people.

The Times makes no allusion to the subject to-day.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

The investigation of the affairs of the City Savings Bank which failed a year since does not warrant the expectation that anything considerable will be realized from the assets for the creditors.

The Committee of One Hundred will meet on Monday in full committee to receive the reports of progress made by the sub-committees on the new railroad, existing railroads, conference, etc.

Japanese received by the Japan steamer last night report that the late plot to seize the Emperor and carry him off to Kioto and then rise and exterminate the whole foreign population was participated in by 40,000 men, but the Government was cognizant of it and defeated the attack on the palace, seized and beheaded the leaders and quickly restored order. The Viceroy of Nankin, a man of great influence and the determined enemy of foreigners, is dead.

To arrive overland this evening—A Huebner, Portland; D S Murphy, Dalles.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

Destructive Fire at Corvallis

CORVALLIS, May 16.—A fire at this place last night at 1 o'clock consumed eight buildings, occupied by one dry goods store, one barber shop, three saloons, one butcher shop, one tailor shop and [illegible] office. The total losses are estimated at $[illegible], covered by insurance the amount of $[illegible]000. A high wind prevailed at the time and the neighboring buildings were only saved by great exertions. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary and originated in a saloon.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

[illegible] the construction of water works at that place.

J [illegible] son of Mr [illegible] Copeland, [illegible] engineer of the H B Co's steamer [illegible] dead in [illegible] letter. Heart disease is said to be the cause of death.

John Murry, a native of Harrington, Cumberland, who was [illegible] a few days ago for medical treatment [illegible], died on Monday in the [illegible] Victoria. He was a [illegible] carpenter by trade.

The people of Victoria are beginning to practice the virtue which is next to godliness. The Colonist says: The accumulation of years is being removed from the water areas of the various streets and carted away and defective sidewalks are being opened or replaced.

The British Colonist says: The London Echo of April 23d contained an article on the subject of the union of Canada with Great Britain, in which it is said that the connection between the two countries was merely artificial and intimated that Lord Dufferin will possibly be the last Viceroy of the new Dominion.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN STATES

The Alabama Question.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The following is an important portion of the Alabama correspondence now before the Senate which has not been previously published in one form or other: On May 8th Secretary Fish telegraphed to Minister Schenck as follows: All propositions made by the British Government involve covertly, probably without design, suggestions that the United States Government cannot agree to, viz: withdrawal from the province of the tribunal what we believe to be entirely within their competence. And I need not repeat our conviction that the arbitrators have the right to decide whether the claims to which Great Britain objects are not admissable and that the United States will be contented to abide by their decision, whether favorable or adverse to the class of claims. The proposition of the British Government is upon the basis that the view which they have heretofore presented shall be the principle of future action and conduct. The view which we have presented is not a principle but an opinion as to the construction of a specific treaty, and is applicable only to the one pending as to a difference on an incidental and temporary question, and cannot be a principle for future action. This Government holds directly the opposite views with regard to the competence of the tribunal to consider the validity of the claims and although desirous of coming to an honorable understanding it cannot adopt the British view or make it the basis of a reciprocal engagement. In my telegram yesterday, I explained that the President cannot and will not withdraw any part of what has been submitted within his construction of the intent and spirit of the treaty, and if the British Government persist in their demand the responsibility for any failure of the treaty that may ensue must rest with them. You will advise them of the impossibility resulting as well from constitutional inability of the President to withdraw what this Government is of opinion has been submitted within the extent and meaning of the treaty as from his unwillingness to compromise the rights and dignity of the Government of his yielding to a demand not founded on right or sustained by a valid construction of the treaty. He hopes however that the British Government may see a way to maintain the treaty on the suggestion of a new article as mentioned in my telegram of yesterday. Should they not adopt the suggestion the inference must be almost unavoidable that they have determined to abrogate the treaty. If however they adopt the suggestion you may say that the probability is that Congress will adjourn about the latter part of this month. That time may be saved therefore the negotiation on this point should be conducted here, or in London if they desire such negotiation. It may be advisable to save time which can be done if they give instructions to their Minister here. You will keep me advised as to the probable action of the Government of Great Britain so that the President may communicate the correspondence to Congress on Monday in case the British Government breaks the treaty. (Signed) HAMILTON FISH

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Richard Smith was going through New Montgomery, at the corner of Mission at 5 A M when he was knocked down by two highwaymen. He got on his feet in an instant and seizing a loose cobble stone hurled it at one of the robbers with such force as to break his skull, whereupon the other one who had seized him by the throat ran away. The injured robber is named Wm Thompson, an old rounder. He is supposed to be fatally injured. Both were covered with dirt from being down in the struggle.

Weather warm and clear.

The panic in the stock market is worse than ever to-day, no indications of the bottom being touched yet.

The Hoodlums are making arrangements for a grand picnic, which they propose to hold without the interference of the police if possible.

The 1st Regiment of N G C, Col W H L Barnes paraded to-day for their annual target excursion, in citizens' dress. Some had on soldiers' caps, some white pants, some black, some with roundabouts and some dress coats. Such a motley looking crowd was never before seen under arms in San Francisco.

Judge Stanley made a final order to-day in the cases of the Montgomery Avenue, Montgomery South and Laguna Survey Commissioners allowing the Commissioners and their employees the bulk of the amount of compensation claimed in each case.

H E Howard, indicted as Frank Leroy, alias Frank Howard, for housebreaking in the day time was tried in the Municipal Court to-day and acquitted.

A certificate of the increase of the capital stock of the Crown Point Mining Company from $[illegible]000,000 to $10,000,000 was filed to-day. The probability is that the new stock will not all find purchasers in the present condition of the market.

The United States steamer Saranac sailed this morning for a cruise to Panama, touching at the Mexican ports on the way.

James Fay was caught in the machinery at a rope walk on the Potrero. His skull was fractured, one arm and both legs terribly broken. His recovery is doubtful.

The watchman of the planing mill on Beale street, which was burned yesterday, is missing, and his friends fear he was consumed in the fire.

James Brannan, charged with arson in setting fire to the house of Mr Grace, on Francisco street for the insurance, and got out on bail to-day was immediately re-arrested on a charge of forging certificates of naturalization.

The laborers on Grisar & Co's wool warehouse on Broadway and Sansome streets, struck to-day for $3, having been receiving $2 50. Their places were immediately filled, when they threatened violence to the new hands and the police were called in to keep the peace. Now all is quiet.

The stock market is more disastrous to outsiders than any before. Many parties rushed in and purchased on time supposing that the bottom had been reached and the fall to-day has swept away their entire margins of 20 per cent in nearly every instance. It now looks as if the bottom had been reached and people begin to breathe freely again.

Parties in this city are endeavoring to arrange for a series of grand excursion trips to Europe this season. They propose if all the arrangements can be made satisfactorily to sell tickets via Panama for the round trip to England and back, good for six months, for $1[illegible]5 coin.

After the afternoon boards stocks on the street appear better and it is thought the panic is about over.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The Montana for Mexico to-day carried 1,500 barrels of flour.

A dispatch from Yokohama says the friends of Mr Shepard, United States Charge d'Affaires there, are seriously alarmed, overwork having brought on him a very dangerous illness.

The total sales of stock in the regular Board to-day were 16,223.

The [illegible] brought 1,2[illegible]3 Chinese passengers.

There was a large attendance at the Agricultural Park to-day. In the trot for horses that had never beaten 2:30 all the horses started, viz: [illegible] John Coughlan, Chief Jo, Treat, Lady Flora and [illegible]. The first heat was won by Coughlan, [illegible] 3d, Treat 4th, a dead heat between Bloomington and Treat 5th, Treat 6th. Time 2:41½, 2:40, 2:40½, 2:4[illegible], 2:39, 2:3[illegible]. This sets Treat, who is owned at Sacramento, in the front rank, being the best time on record ever made by a 4 year old colt in a six mile race. He was [illegible] in the two first heats. He was 4 years old the [illegible]th of this month. In the second race, trot for horses that never beat 2:40, Lady Emma, Traveler, [illegible] and Brooklyn Boy started. Won by Traveler in three straight heats, time 2:36½, 2:42, 2:39½.

There was a report on the street this evening that a prominent broker had taken poison and was in a dying condition. On full investigation it turned out that he only bought Savage at the top of the market, and said to-day he wished he had taken poison before he had purchased it.

There are seven policemen blockading Chinese quarters all this evening to compel Chinese to turn up the murderer of the woman by choking her discarded lover on Tuesday morning. So far they have not succeeded.

That portion of the Northern Pacific Railroad nearest Olympia is progressing at a rate very satisfactory. We understand that Mr Hallett, the contractor, has now a force of 275 white men and 200 Chinamen. The end of his thirty mile section nearest Olympia is about one mile and a quarter from Hodgden's station. He has graded and piled and entirely fitted the road bed for a distance of eight miles.

The following is from the Boise City Standard concerning A Priest, the convict who escaped from the Territorial Prison of Idaho a short time since and immediately stole two horses from Mr Rinearson and started to leave the country: "We are told by Billy Hise, driver east from this place, that there is no doubt of the death of Al Priest. A body was found near the road in the Goose Creek Mountains which answers to his description. It is said that Rinearson overtook him with the stolen horses and as Priest made an attempt to draw a weapon shot him through the head, killing him instantly."

Lieutenant Hay writes from Arizona to the Idaho Statesman as follows: We came to Arizona but a short time ago, expect to be here some time. Captain Thompson and Lieutenant Taylor are stationed at Camp Grant. Hostile proceedings against the Apaches are at present suspended consequent upon General Howard having been sent here for the purpose of attempting some other solution of the problem. I have little faith in anything short of General Crook's policy, the wisdom of which you Idaho people have had ample demonstration. General Howard is now here, as also was General Crook a few days ago. I do not as yet know definitely what is intended to be done.

A PLEA FOR SPECIALTIES IN MEDICINE

THAT THOUSANDS SUFFER PAIN FOR A SERIES of years (and waste a life designed to be useful) who with proper treatment might not only be restored to health [illegible], but contribute to the [illegible] of others, is too evident a fact to require [illegible] proof. This arises from the fact that the [illegible] is still is not readily found, or the general practitioner has too little time to inform himself of the rapid improvements in medicine and surgery as a whole, and still less time and opportunity for observations of a large class of [illegible] chronic complaints. Thus, no man can become an expert in every branch of the healing art, and hence specialists are demanded for the highest good of suffering humanity. And thus it is that progressive minds in this country and in Europe are devoting their best [illegible] to the study of Special Diseases, and to them, patients are [illegible] beginning to look for relief in all cases which have baffled the skill of general practitioners; they have [illegible] persuaded that long study and patient research [illegible] special [illegible] must result in a [illegible] and practical means of cure.

Such has been Dr Aborn's long and patient study of diseases of the eye, ear, throat, lungs, and chest, and so fortunate his discovery of new [illegible] and new applications of old ones, as have resulted in unparalleled success in that class of [illegible], and [illegible] him an enviable reputation throughout the Union. A new hope for cure not unfrequently springs up in the breast of the most despairing invalid, on visiting his office and [illegible] the evidences in [illegible] testimonials of [illegible] cures by him performed.

It is rare indeed that one medical man [illegible] sufficient attainments to enter a medical college and occupy more than one professional chair, and to [illegible] in the branch of his choice requires all his time and energy, to the exclusion of all others. Hence the absurdity of one going out from college after a brief [illegible] of study to successfully engage in the practice of [illegible] of all branches of medicine. The little that he has learned of them all collectively must remain as little, if he attempts to progress in the knowledge of them all thereafter.

This is so evident, that the time is not far distant—in fact the day is dawning now—when every [illegible] physician will devote his attention to one or more particular branches, or in other words, will have his specialty in medicine or surgery. Progress in [illegible] and surgery has always met with [illegible] from their own practitioners, and probably ever will, [illegible] physic [illegible] as a class come to entertain more liberal and [illegible] views, and cease to be [illegible]. It is a trite remark—founded upon long [illegible]—that physicians are more prone to decry their [illegible] than any other class of professional men.

A physician who is [illegible] to acute and febrile [illegible] at the [illegible] experience in the treatment of [illegible], nor can any one who remains in his office [illegible] cases, exclusively, have any experience of value in treating acute cases. These are axioms, or self-evident truths that require neither argument [illegible].

Now, whilst Dr. Aborn is willing to [illegible] that he who treats fevers and other acute [illegible] should be more [illegible] in such cases than [illegible], yet he begs leave to claim like superiority in the treatment of certain [illegible] to which he has devoted [illegible] for a series of years.

Dr Aborn, standing upon strict medical etiquette towards his medical brethren, never [illegible] ill of the fraternity, nor officiously engaged in [illegible] a patient from seeking advice from any physician that may be his choice. This being a free country, Dr Aborn holds that a man has a right to consult whom he pleases, and to think and judge for himself, and form his own conclusions. Hence if a patient [illegible] him and does not feel disposed to take his treatment, he does not volunteer gratuitous advice as to whom he should, or should not apply. There is quite too much of this ungentlemanly conduct among the profession, but from which Dr. Aborn intends to hold himself, in the future as in the past, entirely aloof.

In reference to and in defense of, his course in advertising, Dr. Aborn feels justified in saying this much: that having devoted his entire time to the study and treatment of a few chronic diseases, and having attained a success unparalleled in their treatment, he would be false to his humanity, were he not to make these facts known. The simple fact that "quacks" and "humbugs" (so-called) do advertise, does not militate against the propriety of sound, scientific and successful practitioners likewise using the columns of the press.

Moreover, there are perhaps but few intelligent medical men who are unwilling to [illegible] that there are quacks and humbugs in the profession of medicine, who are located too and yet do not advertise thus openly. However nearly every physician has his peculiar [illegible] of advertising himself. Surely it is legitimate to advertise a specialty in medicine if honestly and [illegible] done, and especially if the advertiser is competent to treat such cases with unusual success, as it is to use the same means to bring into notice an improved and labor saving agricultural implement. By so doing, the specialist benefits suffering humanity by informing them where they can be cured of their maladies, that have perhaps for years or a life time resisted ordinary modes of treatment, and the mechanic, perchance, relieves the husbandman of his burdens and lightens the toils of his help-meet woman. This an intelligent and unprejudiced mind readily approves [illegible] and improvement in everything.

The National Issue

In the midst of petty contentions over local issues, most of which are fictitious, being invented for temporary use by politicians who find their party in extremity, the national bearings of the approaching election in this State should not be forgotten. All the dust and noise of local contention will subside immediately after the election. The local questions raised by such organs as the Herald and such orators as Burnett are wholly imaginary and artificial, and the election, result how it will, can have no effect on them. Not so, however, with the deep questions and principles of national policy on which this election must have a bearing. It is time to distinguish between what is trivial and ephemeral, and what is great and lasting. From Democratic organs we have an endless flow of words about matters purely fictitious. A few stock phrases such as "railroad king," "soulless monopolies," and the like, make up their whole line of discussion. Nothing is involved in these things that the election can in anyway change or modify; in short, these so-called "issues" are not issues at all. But there are questions at stake, there are issues before the people. This is the Presidential year and while we are not to neglect such local matters as call for attention, yet we should remember that the result of the election will be awaited here and elsewhere chiefly for its bearing on national politics.

The question is, shall the Government be given up to the Democratic party? The side movement at Cincinnati, if it comes to any result, will land the Government in the hands of that party. And what is that party? "It is," says Harper's Weekly, "the political organization to which the great body of those who were known as rebels eight years ago belong. It includes every element not only of opposition to Republican administration, but of hostility to the Union and the Government. It is the party whose active leaders and members to-day were educated in the dogmas of State sovereignty, and in the Virginia and Kentucky resolutions, as sound doctrine, who were trained in contempt of the equal rights of the colored race, and who many of them—the active Democratic leaders of to-day—palliated the rebellion, and sought in every way short of actually taking up arms to embarrass the Government, struggling desperately for existence. It is the party whose National Convention four years ago was controlled by Wade Hampton and men who exulted in declaring themselves rebels, which pronounced for virtual repudiation, and which nominated for President Gov. Seymour, upon whom rests a terrible share of the responsibility for the New York massacres of July, 1863, and for Vice President General Blair, who had just written the Brodhead letter, which plainly suggested a revolutionary overthrow of reconstruction."

And has this party changed its nature? Is it anything different from what it has been for years? Can it be safe to place in power a party which the country feared as revolutionary, and rejected as utterly unworthy, four years ago? The voice of Oregon is not as potent as some of the other States, but her voice will be awaited on this occasion with much interest from one extremity of the country to the other. Here lies the real question at issue in our June election. Republicans! be on the alert. Come to the front, and by a vigorous effort you will gain the prestige of a victory.

A Panic.

Now comes the Herald, saying:

> A fair election is all we or any of our friends want. But when we saw you cheating each other at your primaries, importing mobs to defraud and overawe each other, the conclusion was that you would be quite as ready to defraud the people as you were to commit such outrages upon your own brethren.

The Democratic organ has manifested an unusual interest in the recent Republican primaries. For a week its columns have been filled with little else. It has talked about an "imported mob" until it may have worked itself into a belief that great numbers of people not entitled to vote in the county were brought here on that occasion. But there is no foundation for such an allegation or belief. The Herald says it saw "cheating." This is mere assertion. Large numbers of men who are in the employ of the railroads are legal voters in this county. Some of them voted in the Republican primaries. Doubtless they will be present to vote in the general election. If the workmen generally vote the Republican ticket we do not see what the Herald is going to do about it. If the majorities shall be largely against the Democracy, as they are sure to be, that paper will doubtless deem it an "outrage;" but it is not apparent how it is going to help itself. We estimate the total legal voters of this county at 3,000 to 3,200. Of these a large majority are undoubtedly Republicans. We shall throw more votes at the general election than were thrown at the primary, unless, indeed, it shall be again as it was two years ago, when the press at the polls was so great that hundreds of voters, including many leading citizens, could not get opportunity to vote within the hours prescribed by law.

The trouble with the Herald is, that it had no idea of the Republican strength in this county, till it saw that strength partially developed in the primaries, and it has been in a sort of panic ever since. Hence its inflammatory articles.

Oregon's General.

The Cincinnati Commercial, on the day before the recent Convention met, had this notice of one of Oregon's most illustrious men:

> Colonel Johnson arrived in the city yesterday from Oregon, and is stopping at the St. James Hotel. The State held a Convention and elected delegates, but the Colonel is the only one here. He has the proxies, however, and will cast the entire vote of the State. Gov. Brown will be his first choice, after which, it is understood, he will still support some Western man.

We object seriously to one or two things in this notice. It is absolutely shameful to call Jasper a "Colonel," when everybody except the benighted editor at Cincinnati knows that he is a full General. He has held this rank for many years, even in Oregon, and the idea of reducing him to the rank of Colonel after he had traveled all the way to Cincinnati, seen so many things and appeared at the great Convention, is quite enough to kindle all Oregon's indignation "[illegible]." The indignity is enough to make the General renounce all titles.

And then again, we are provoked because the Cincinnati editor gave no account of the "Convention" which was held in [illegible] and which elected Jasper a delegate. All know that Oregon has a peculiar pride in this Convention. It was the greatest sensation ever witnessed in the State. It was the largest and most enthusiastic assemblage. It represented all Oregon. With such backing it may well be said that our General "cast the vote of the State" at Cincinnati. But it is annoying, indeed, to find this Convention passed over with a single common-place remark.

The Democratic primaries last evening were remarkably "sickly." Not one hundred votes, all told, were out at all the polls. At some of the places of voting opinions were expressed in decided opposition to any "fusion" ticket. One speaker in Madison precinct said that he wanted no piebald, Dolly Varden ticket. If the issue was between Greeley and Grant, he would vote for Grant. If a straight Democratic county ticket were nominated, all right; if otherwise, he might as well be counted out. This feeling is largely shared among the Democrats of Portland.

As the canvass progresses affairs grow desperate with Boozing Burnett. He is at a terrible disadvantage in his discussions with Wilson. The inferiority of Burnett to Wilson becomes more apparent as the canvass proceeds. The Herald admitted that the Democratic candidate made a comparatively poor beginning here, when the canvass opened. And he has steadily fallen behind since the delivery of his first speech. The discussion as Wilson conducts it is not a contest but a slaughter.

The Herald has the impudence to say that there are "several hundred Republicans" in this county who propose to support a ticket other than that nominated on Saturday last. A premium might with perfect safety be offered for every Republican in this county beyond the number of twenty-five who will not vote the regular Republican ticket.

A gentleman in this city received a letter a few days ago from a friend, a member of the present Congress from one of the Northern Ohio districts. The letter contained the following short but expressive paragraph: "I have met your Colonel Kelly. He is the dullest man in Washington City."

Mr. Burnett in one of his speeches up the valley compared the Fenians with the Ku Klux. We shall see how Irishmen like this.

The election of delegates to Congress in Washington and Idaho Territories is postponed by act of Congress till November.

Attorney General Williams will speak at Eugene City on Monday, the 20th inst., at 1 o'clock P. M.

Geographical Errors.

Writers in the Atlantic States are excusable in speaking of Astoria as a town situated on the bank of the Columbia river, while nine-tenths of the people of Oregon are under the same erroneous impression. These thoughts are called forth by the following, which appeared a few days since in the OREGONIAN:

> SHIP A. M. SMALL.—The ship A. M. Small, Packard, Master, of 1,053 tons registered capacity, arrived off the Columbia bar a few days days ago. She is now lying at Astoria. The A. M. Small made the voyage from New York to the bar in about the quickest time in which that distance has been made by sail. She reached the bar on the 115th day from the time of her sailing. Prior to this voyage, she made two trips from New York to San Francisco: one in 118 days, and another in a little over 119. She brings a cargo of 1,250 tons of iron and railroad material for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and consequently will discharge her cargo at Kalama. At the present stage of water it cannot be determined when she will be able to reach that point. She is drawing nineteen and a half feet. A bar which has been formed a short distance above Astoria, and renders it difficult for vessels drawing thirteen feet of water to pass at low tide, will prevent the Small from crossing, until she has been sufficiently lightened. On last Thursday the Captain came up to Kalama to see what arrangements he could effect toward that object. It is not yet known where the ship will load from.

The subject of which I now propose to speak, is one of vast importance to Oregon, and should be handled by a better writer, but as others have refused to speak, I deem it my duty to lay the matter before the public, hoping it may be the means of attracting the attention of our business men to this important matter. I repeat the proposition with which I set out, that Astoria is not on the Columbia river. If the reader will take a map of the Columbia river and follow me, he will soon be convinced of this fact. We will imagine ourselves a few miles below Oak Point; looking down the river we see a large island known as Puget Island, with a channel on either side. An inexperienced navigator would be at a loss to know which channel to run. On the Washington Territory shore is situated Cathlamet, an old Hudson Bay trading post. On the Oregon side is Westport, where the Westport mills are situated. We will take the left hand channel that runs along the Oregon shore, a circuitous route around Puget Island, for this is the ship channel. Opposite the foot of the Island is the mouth of "Blind Slough,"—or as is more generally known, the Inside Channel, through which the river boats often pass to and from Astoria to avoid the storms of Cathlamet Bay. Following down the channel, we soon pass the mouth of the channel that passes on the right of Puget Island, and near Cathlamet. Here the river bears almost directly north to the abrupt hills on the Washington shore. After leaving Cathlamet about three miles in the rear, we turn our course to the west, and will now consider ourselves entering Cathlamet Bay, and looking toward the setting sun, we behold the vast Pacific. We will now violate the teachings of nature and do violence to common sense, and instead of keeping straight on toward the "Rolling Deep," we will turn abruptly to the left around the foot of Woody Island, through a narrow channel, behind a low island called Snag Island, with a wide stretch of low tide land on the left; we run close to Snag Island, then bear to the left. We now see a beacon on the shore which we approach, then bear suddenly to the north past the foot of Snag Island, across a shallow sand flat, and find ourselves in a narrow but deep cut. We will now run west a few miles keeping a sharp lookout not to run as the innumerable buoys (which the Government has placed there at an enormous expense) would indicate, because if they had been placed correctly, then sailing masters could come up the river without the aid of a pilot. Now being near the center of this vast Bay, we will wheel to the left, and run about three miles across sand flats to a bold point known as Tongue Point, on the Oregon shore. When within a few hundred yards of the shore we give the wheel a few turns to the right, then hard around to the left, until we get well in under Tongue Point, then, if the tide is in sufficiently, we will wheel to the right and make straight for Astoria, where we stop, pay off our river pilot, take on the bar pilot, run across the mouth of Gray's or Young's Bay, toward Fort Stevens, and when near the Fort, turn at right angles to the north and wind around among sand spits for about five miles until we get back into the Columbia river, or what is called the north channel over the bar. We now turn round and look up the river past Baker's Bay and Chinook, and wonder what, besides a view of Astoria, we have gained by this tedious winding around among mud flats—even the salmon are wiser than we, for they never take that route.

The only rational answer that can be given us is, that the pilots [illegible] Astoria. The writer has made sufficient soundings and observations from Chinook to Cathlamet to satisfy him in believing that Astoria is not within five miles of the Columbia river, but merely on the shores of Cathlamet Bay.

The report of Capt. West as to the soundings on St. Helens Bar, has confirmed me in my preconceived opinion, that the pilots do not want vessels to go to Portland without trouble.

If the business men of Portland would expend a few hundred dollars in employing some suitable man to sound the river, and ascertain whether the above stated facts be true, it might result in inestimable benefit to Portland.

Hoping this will call forth something from some one who is better acquainted with the facts, I close for the present.

Still Another Remarkable Cure.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10, 1871.

DR. A. M. LOEYER & CO.—For two years I was afflicted with Rheumatism, and tried all the known remedies, but experienced nothing more than a temporary relief, the disease always returning. Some months since I concluded to take your Unk Weed Remedy, and the result was a Speedy and Permanent Cure, the Rheumatism being entirely eradicated from the system. The "UNK" is also a Tonic of the very highest order. It increases the appetite, and invigorates the body. I cheerfully bear testimony to its good effect upon me, and feel sure that it will do all you claim for it.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT;

FOR MAN AND BEAST.

Probably few articles have ever had so extensive a Sale, while none have been more universally beneficial than the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Children, Adults, Horses and Domestic Animals, are always liable to accident, and it is safe to say, that no family can pass a single season without some kind of an emollient being necessary. It becomes a matter of importance then to secure the best.

Over three hundred livery stables in the city of New York alone are using the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, in all of which it gives unusual satisfaction.

CAUTION.—The genuine is wrapped in a fine Steel Plate engraving with "G. W. Westbrook, Chemist," and "Trade Mark, MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT," engraved across the face of each wrapper. The whole bears the proprietor's private United States Revenue Stamp, and not a common stamp, as used by druggists.

CITY.

THE CORVALLIS FIRE —Mr C H Friendly of this city who was in Corvallis on Thursday, has furnished us with the following information relative to the destructive fire that occurred in that place yesterday morning At one o'clock A M the citizens of the quiet town were aroused by the cries of fire and in a short time the streets in the immediate neighborhood of the fire were crowded with people The fire broke out in a small frame building occupied as a boarding house on the corner of Jefferson and Main streets and in an instant the whole building was in flames From this it communicated to others on the south side and notwithstanding the utmost exertions of citizens in throwing water upon the buildings and using other means it continued to increase and was only stopped by Fisher's brick building being in its pathway Nine buildings all frame were destroyed three of which were occupied as saloons Durham's saddlery shop a butcher shop two offices belonging to Hon T B Odeneal J W Wilson's dry goods store and a barber shop The occupants of the places destroyed secured very little of their goods The total losses are estimated at $13 000 covered by insurance to the amount of $7 600 The stores of Allen & Woodward L G Kline and Dr Bayley, near Monroe street are the only ones remaining on that side of the street and narrowly escaped destruction The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary as no fires had been used in any of the buildings during the evening.

DRUGGED AND ROBBED —Several days ago a man named E S Vanhorn went on a spree As the drinking spell lasted some time, he found himself in the precincts of the "Court of Death" in the course of his wanderings By some means he was induced to enter one of the low resorts in that locality and take a drink According to what he says, a short time after drinking he became a ... During the time he was in that condition he was robbed of $80 in coin and a valuable gold watch and chain worth about $65 Yesterday morning he made application to the bar keeper for his money and property He was shown a note which purported to have been written by him, in which he had given away the articles which he claimed and alleged to have lost This note was a base forgery. A warrant was issued at once for the arrest of the inmates of the saloon, who were Samuel McKee Mary A McKee, and Rosa Townsend An examination of the case was held before Justice Crich yesterday afternoon. Samuel McKee and Mary A McKee were held to answer in the sum of $500 bail, which was promptly given Rosa Townsend was held to appear on her own recognizance The money, Vanhorn has not yet recovered The watch is in the hands of the Court

BUZZING ON THE WING —Yesterday was a very busy day with our Democratic friends We should have been at a loss to know what was "in the wind" if it had not been announced that the Democratic primaries were to be held The city was ... yesterday as great a political farce as has been enacted for some years Precedent, and a disposition to make a show of resistance, when the fortunes of that party were never more desperate or hopeless, induced them to take the preliminary steps towards placing a ticket in the field. The blood which has pervaded Democratic atmosphere for some days has passed away, and the, until lately, "unterrified" have settled down into that melancholy hopelessness which the certainty of complete defeat has induced

A RECTOR —The Oregon Churchman of the 15th inst. says "We are glad to record another and most important addition to our clerical force Trinity, Portland, which is facile princeps among our parishes, has been for a year without a Rector. Several months since the Vestry invited the Rev. R. S Nevius, D D, of Mobile, Alabama to be their Rector The invitation was accepted and May the first set as the time for the Rector's arrival The Doctor arrived by the last trip of the steamer Ajax, and has already set energetically to work "

BRIDGE BRACING —Workmen are now engaged in putting in new bents under the bridge at the corner of Fourth and L streets, East Portland and propose to give the structure a thorough overhauling. This improvement has been needed for some time. The foundation upon which the bridge rested was never very firm, and the water washing against it has had the effect to make it sink down in the center Traveling over it was considered unsafe, and much trouble on that account was experienced So says the ...

...—A man named Meany, who has charge of the Marion section of the O & C R R near ... received fatal injury on last Wednesday, he was seated on a hand car and traveling at ... speed. A projecting handle of a spike maul caught in the spokes of one of the wheels and was thrown with such force that Meany was knocked off the car by it striking him At that moment the car was crossing a high stretch of trestle work Fortunately he did not fall through the ties He escaped with a few severe bruises

CORRECTION —In the report of the proceedings of the Republican County Convention, the name of A P. Quimby for Constable of Couch Precinct was published, instead of H J Twomey Also the name of Thomas Ryan as Constable of South Portland Precinct It should have been E W. Ryan.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease not because the maladies that affect them are necessarily fatal but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to fend off the germs of epidemic and other disorders and to baffle the evil influence of dank miasma and sudden thermometrical changes There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four that Hostetter's Bitters ... are especially adapted to this purpose ... simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world During the twenty years that it has been in general use ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age Its introduction into every civilized portion of the Western Hemisphere and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its would be competitors

The Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN THERE [illegible]

To the Editor of the Oregonian

SIR The editor of the Herald newspaper of this city it seems to me has abused the position he occupies as a journalist on the railroad question One of two things must be true either the Democratic party has changed from the announcement of its leaders on the railroad question in the last twelve months or that party is being misrepresented in Oregon I do not wish to be [illegible] but while political parties as parties exercise powers aggregate they are [illegible] amenable in that their power [illegible] those in individual may exercise [illegible] private capacity And to say (on the part of Democratic leaders) that the party is not amenable for what its leaders advocate is to refute some of its own leaders' arguments against railroad corporations

Portland Oregon stands out prominently with a bright future before her as the emporium of the Northwest The valleys of the domain called the great Northwest pay copious tribute to her growth and both country and city, redolent of riches in the munificent resources imbedded throughout the great expanse of our GREAT NORTHWEST territory, vie each with the other to perform its part well—the country producing and consuming what is exchanged in commerce through the city of Portland, the emporium of the magnificent Northwest, destined as it is, to grow in wealth and increase in population till the rays of her light reach every glen, hill top and mountain pass westward of the meridian of the Rocky Mountains

Many noble efforts have already been made toward the development of our Northwest by zealous citizens, when the citizens of Portland held some mass meetings and had a committee to review and report on the questions of railroad development A report, elaborately wrought and set forth by that committee, was adopted by a Citizens Mass Meeting in Portland It committed the Northern Pacific Railroad a railroad upon each side of the Willamette river and a railroad from Salt Lake to Portland The substance of that report was at that period published in all the Oregon newspapers nearly and was endorsed by the whole people of Oregon And it was justly endorsed The Oregon Legislature of 1868 in both branches, and with but one dissenting vote asserted the necessity of a railroad from Portland to Salt Lake Mr Slater the present Democratic Congressman, has expended his best energies towards obtaining a land grant to forward the building of this road

But however, it seems it is yet a question to be determined whether the people of Portland and of Eastern Oregon want this Portland and Salt Lake Railroad

Some queries are made in regard to such a land grant But they are made to defeat it True there are those (in Congress some of them,) opposed to Oregon who are unfriendly to this land grant. And there are some in Oregon opposed to the land grant who ought to be friendly to Oregon It is a momentous question, fraught with results which no man howsoever clear-sighted he may be may easily comprehend and calculate Then if it is so all-important is it right to risk a doubt

I make the charge that the Democratic leaders now oppose this Portland and Salt Lake Railroad

The editor of the Herald opposed (foolishly, as his true friends thought) the memorial to Congress which was drafted by Colonel Chapman to be signed and which our citizens did extensively sign asking for aid to this railroad It recited something which Horace Greeley was reputed as having said in favor of such a land grant Now look ye, reader, to the sequel The OREGONIAN newspaper charged upon the Herald newspaper that it did not favor this land grant What was the response? That President Grant had recommended that the public lands be held as a heritage to posterity It seems to be sufficient for the Herald editor that President Grant had opposed, as he thought, such a grant Now it must be admitted the editor of the Herald is OPPOSED to the land grant for he has two reasons given One that Horace Greeley favored such a subsidy, and the other that President Grant as he thought, opposed it

Now President Grant is the head of but one branch in the Government He can recommend, and that is all California has recently been holding mass meetings and speaking loudly for herself for a new land grant on the thirty-fifth parallel Why should not we of Oregon advocate our interests?

Eastern newspapers that are opposed in the main to any further land grants to railroads say that the Portland and Salt Lake route is the most meritorious of any that are now praying aid Again, the policy of granting the lands to the railroads themselves has been abandoned, and now the grants are such that the land goes to the actual settler and the railroads have a share of the proceeds of the [illegible] This is equality and a fair contract and overcomes the main objections that are found to such grants It coincides with President Grant's recommendation that the lands be held as a heritage to actual settlers It is fair to railroad companies, because it says to them, in substance, "If you bring those remote lands into near access to the centers of trade, so that they may be [illegible] inhabited, you may have the proceeds of the sales of one-half of them But the Herald editor only a short time in Oregon, explains for the Democratic candidate for Congress his position on this question He says Mr Burnett does not [illegible] the Government aid to a railroad from Portland to Salt Lake, but only opposes the land being given to the railroad corporation thinks the land should go to the settler and the proceeds of it to the Railroad Company. The Herald's editor is a logician and a deft hand in nice and close distinction When such power is honestly wielded in any cause, it is proof of manhood But he in his astute statement of what Mr Burnett opposes, does not say he favors anything Are all our conquests, triumphs and marches on the railroad question reduced to this little measure?" What has Mr Slater been working in Congress for? What has Col Chapman spent six months in the East for? What did the Oregon Democratic Legislature memorialize Congress for? Out upon this double dealing

The editor of the Herald mixes two distinct questions so as to obtain an advantage or to obtain a triumph, through deception. They are two questions that would of themselves naturally separate were not great activity and a heroic use of words put forth to prevent it The two questions are 1st land grants to railroad companies and 2d, the right of the State to regulate transportation As to the first, I say separate it from the other and let it stand on its own merit or fall and do not apply to it arguments that either belong to No 2, or do not belong to either I do not know of any emergency or call upon anybody by any persons duly interested to justify the State to interfere in the regulation of the price of transportation in Oregon Transportation has cheapened gradually in Oregon since its first settlement, and swifter of late years than ever

It is sought to cofound these two questions and when arguments are applied to one that justly do not appertain to it it is dishonesty or gross ignorance that does it The two questions 1st whether we want a railroad upon a given route and 2d whether a necessity could arise in regard to the price of transportation to justify the State to interfere are not sufficiently allied to each other to make one to depend upon the other Who knows but if a railroad were built from here to Salt Lake it would be as cheap to ride or send freight by it as could be asked for

It may be a sort of innovation to have railroads and on this account it may require some effort on the part of some [illegible] to accept them The introduction of the use of stoves was opposed The old lady who looked through the crack in the meeting house on Saturday and saw the first one that was introduced into the neighborhood described it as having a tail like an elephant that went up through the roof and her opposition to stoves was about like some opposition that is made to railroads

To conclude here is a question to be answered satisfactorily if it can be Why was Mr Slater defeated for the nomination for Congress If it was not for his support of the Portland and Salt Lake Railroad what was it for? Yours &c QUID NUNC

PORTLAND May [illegible] 1872

The railroads of England [illegible] 11,971 [illegible] miles of track [illegible] miles [illegible] property [illegible] The total [illegible] the gross [illegible] of all the roads is nearly $110,000,000 [illegible] Norway [illegible] army of 100,000 officers and [illegible] employees [illegible] and the value of the rolling stock exceeds [illegible]

A writer in a late number of [illegible] after [illegible] consideration of the more prominent recent works relating to the primitive condition of man comes to the conclusion that too little is known on the subject to admit of any satisfactory generalization as to the origin of the race He argues however that there is no evidence to show that the barbarian of early times was more nearly related to the lower animals than is the man of the present day and is disposed to look upon the lower savages as degenerate rather than undeveloped races

The Jews of Maryland are demanding a change in the marriage laws of that commonwealth, and well they may As they stand at present the contract is valid only when solemnized by a minister of the Gospel or ordained according to the rites and ceremonies of his or her church or in such manner as it is used and practiced by the society of the people called Quakers This places the Jews outside the pale of matrimony and they have to set out on their wedding trips before the ceremony is performed and have it done on the road beyond the limits of the State

The latest theory concerning the frequent fires which occur in pine forests in summer is that they are caused by the action of the sun's rays concentrated by the globules of rosin which exudes from the trees These act as burning lenses and start the conflagration which of course spreads rapidly among the inflammable material

Gold in New York to-day 114 [illegible]

Portland Legal Tender rates 8 ½c buying 88c selling

Wheat in Liverpool 12s 9d@13s

The steamship John L Stephens brought to this port 300 tons of assorted merchandise

The ship Victoria Nyanza has sailed from Middleboro with 1 050 tons railroad iron for Portland Oregon

The steamship John L Stephens from San Francisco arrived last night. This splendid vessel is now a real attraction She has been almost entirely rebuilt, and her appointments are in every way perfect Some idea of the extent of the work done upon her may be gathered from the fact that it has cost $200 000

Trade remains rather inactive The scarcity of money embarrasses all business. Loans are exceedingly difficult to obtain

The northern fishing fleet for this coast will be very small this year The scarcity of vessels in San Francisco operates against this industry And besides the large quantities of superior fish sent from the East, and the urgent demand for coasting vessels for Lumber and other trades, has made it more profitable for owners to put their craft to other uses.

From San Francisco papers of the 11th we take these items

The Flour trade with New York is assuming quite extensive proportions A shipment of 1 000 bbls or ten car loads was started to-day making 2 000 bbls that have gone forward this week while considerable quantities are going via the Isthmus and Cape Horn routes The high prices of fancy brands of extra in New York and the liberal rates offered by the Railroad Company leaves a handsome margin on consignments forwarded under the present condition of this market

It is now stated that $50 per flask has been offered and refused for the entire product of the New Almaden Quicksilver Mines A new agency has been established and it is hoped that the old extortion is to be kept up no longer The activity in mining enterprises on this coast has increased the consumption but the production has heretofore been purposely kept sufficiently low in order that consumers might be squeezed to the extent of a few more dollars for the benefit of the combination

The San Francisco Rural Press of the 11th inst in an article on Wool says There are now over 17 000 bales of Wool in San Francisco awaiting sale and shipment East These Wools are being offered at prices ranging from 6 to 10 cents lower than two weeks since and it is difficult to get takers at even 40 cents [illegible] and such small lots as find sale are only the purchases of agents, for the purpose of supplying the immediate wants of manufacturers

Stock transactions in San Francisco have been on a scale of such unusual magnitude that the monetary reservoirs have been largely depleted by their demands causing an increased firmness in the rates of interest which are now 1 [illegible] per cent in commercial banks on the best indorsed paper and 10 per cent in savings institutions on first class real estate The requirement for legitimate business has been active and steady but not urgent

Leading financial writers attribute the rise in gold in large degree to the influence brought to bear by the Bank of England in raising its rate to 4 per cent. which has created the apprehension that large amounts will be exported from this country The London Economist of April 13th seems to have foreseen this action on the part of the bank giving the following reasons for its belief

The German Government either for coinage or for a war measure wants actual bullion at Berlin It is most anxious not to disturb the market London) more than it can help and so it buys the gold or most of the gold which arrives, instead of taking it from the bank The effect of this [illegible] be [illegible] to raise the value of money and that within a moderate period Since the suspension of specie payments by the Bank of France the Bank of England is the only agent [illegible] supply [illegible] we have to [illegible] we cannot meet them If a single country even temporarily absorbs the incoming supply The result therefore is that if the reserve bullion in the bank should continue to be expended to [illegible] ordinary demands but not before [illegible] ordinary supplies [illegible] will be the duty of the bank to secure extraordinary supplies and that can only be by raising the rate of interest [illegible] and so as to attract money from the rest of the world [illegible] very difficult because [illegible] [illegible] knows what bullion it now has [illegible] it may want [illegible] to err on the side of caution [illegible] large [illegible] demand [illegible]

The New York Financial Chronicle [illegible] says [illegible] system of Great Britain is organized on a basis of [illegible] per cent as the interest for money When this [illegible] kept up one of the elements of commercial prosperity is present and in proportion as the rate is exceeded the profits of trade are contracted a shock is given to the industrial organism of the whole country the calculations of business men are baffled and a swelling tide of ruin overtakes and overwhelms and sweeps away thousands of honest industrious citizens
